Assessment and Statement

VERIFY Agency of Sweden AB has verified all levels of activities that the organization states in the Sustainability Declaration. VERIFY Agency of Sweden AB has performed the verification through interviews with the organization's staff and through a sampling of the documentation that the organization refers to in the Sustainability Declaration and in the management of its sustainability work, such as policies, business routines, meeting planning, analyses, assessments, minutes, surveys, communication efforts, and training. An on-site audit was also performed.

EasySteps AB manufactures and commercializes EasyStepsGo, which is designed to meet the market's need for digital tools that help businesses manage their operations in a sustainable manner. While recently founded, in 2024, the company shows a strong commitment to sustainability through the alignment with international standards and frameworks such as ISO 26000, the VSME sustainability framework, and the UN Sustainable Development Goals. By active engagement with stakeholders through regular feedback and materiality assessments, the company demonstrates respect and sensitivity to the interests of its stakeholders. At the same time, it is actively laying the groundwork for creating structures, processes, and policies to integrate sustainability into its governance.

EasySteps AB has carefully answered the questions in the Sustainability Declaration and provided supporting documents to substantiate these answers. Key initiatives include the launch of the EasyStepsGO platform, which empowers small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) to streamline their sustainability efforts by focusing on stakeholder engagement, lifecycle assessments, and ESG reporting. The company has described its value chain, performed a stakeholder analysis, and conducted a double materiality analysis, as well as selected goals and sub-goals from the Sustainable Development Goals.

Throughout the year, the company intensified its commitment to the 2030 Agenda, emphasizing its ongoing sustainability journey. This includes employee well-being initiatives, staff education on sustainability, and setting specific goals to reduce its environmental impact in 2025. The risks and opportunities have been identified through a SWOT analysis and double materiality analysis and are being managed in a structured and proactive way. There is a clear management structure and division of responsibilities in the business. At the same time, a high degree of transparency prevails, and good business ethics can be observed throughout the organization.
